Such a service between the two continents would revolutionize passenger travel, and the fact that the government is giving it serious consideration makes one feel that the thing may soon become a reality.

DOLLAR EXCHANGE

There was much talk awhile ago of dollar exchange between nations to replace the use of the French franc or the British pound or the cobalt units of the nations concerned in particular transactions. Nothing much came of it. But now comes a surprising development.

Soviet Russia and Finland have agreed that money orders between these two countries shall be expressed in American dollars and settlements shall be made by means of bills or exchange drawn on New York.

Our Soviet friends are able at least to appreciate sound money and honest financing, after all their foolish inflation and affected scorn of gold and deep-dyed distrust of "capitalistic" nations.

It is a genuine compliment to American finance, let foreign nations go as far as they like along this line.

ECONOMIZING AT THE TOP

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation, according to economists, has failed at the top, contrary to custom. It begins by dropping three of its high officers and a general manager.

This is expected to facilitate making economies further down the line. Economists can find less ground for grievance when their superiors have been let out, other economies may come the way to labor economies.

The president is expected to have a far-reaching effect in industrial circles. If the media vice presidents, it may be viewed with favor in many a business or organization.

The growth of officers in recent years has been remarkable. There seems to be overproduction of both in many business institutions. Even though all of them may be useful and efficient, their numbers are too large and it is hard to persuade outsiders that some are not drawing big salaries for merely ornamental purposes.

SLEEPING CARS

Somebody is roasting the Pullman Company again, accusing it of making too much money and of giving too many "fat" salaries. It provides comfortable sleeping facilities for travelers. This subject probably deserves more public attention than it has received.

The inexperienced patron often regards the American sleeping car as a marvel of convenience and comfort. And so it is, compared with the day coach, but the habit of traveling grows weary of its limitations. He comes to feel cramped by the size of the berth and annoyed by the limited space or dressing.

Aboard, the critics say, there problems have been much better worked out. Some of them declare that highly desirable improvements have actually been devised in this country, only to be turned down by the shipping car monopoly for reasons of its own. It does seem that, considering American ingenuity and American desire for the best traveling and lodging accommodations, our Pullman cars have not kept pace with the progress of the country. The Pullman today is just about the same as it was twenty years ago.

ON THE FIRST LAP TO JUNGLELAND

(By Alfred T. Capps, Jr.)

On June 17, three of us, members of the University of Pittsburgh's expedition to the jungles of British Guiana, sailed from New Orleans on the Norwegian freight boat Artensis. In dock at New Orleans the Artensis was anything but prepossessing in appearance—sooty decks and cranes, booms, open hatches, and ropes all over the decks in terrible confusion. All chance for romance seemed lacking. But after we had gotten out to sea and were cleaned up and had lived in it for three full weeks, trusting its creaking plates in terrific Caribbean storms, and watching it cut smoothly through glassy West Indian waters, we acquired a great affection for it.

Three days out we sighted the south coast of Cuba. Three days later the eastern coast of Cuba, then three more and we dropped anchor in the lovely harbor of Aux Cayes, Haiti, a harbor so beautiful that it seemed ethereal. The deep blue of the Gulf merges into the emerald green of the coral reef, then thundering breakers and a grey sea wall. For a background are the Haitian mountains covered with tropical verdure to their very summits, green with giant ferns and palms, sprinkled with the carmen bloteches of the wonderful flamboyant (tree) and the dower clouds and that of the sea. All this beauty is lost when the native stevedores—all muscle bound, half naked negroes—come out to unload the cargo of spaghetti destined for their village.

When they bring bananas, mangoes, oranges, parrots and sea turtles, in fact almost everything that is indigenous to the tropics and salable. The sailors soon bought out the stock of fruits at ridiculous prices.

For four hours all was confusion and bedlam. Sweating negroes, screaming winches, an incessant babbling of Senegambian-French, deep resonant Scandinavian curses from the captain, and the raucous hawking of the parrot vendors made the scene interesting if not delightful. In the course of the winches were cranked to get the spaghetti out of the hold they smashed most of it against the under sides of the hatches, thereby reducing it to fine powder, but no matter, out it came. In five more Haitian ports, all quite as beautiful as Aux Cayes, we unloaded spaghetti, then on to the Dominican Republic and three more stops.

Upon entering the harbor at Santo Domingo we had a rather bad accident worse even than the unfortunate slipping of a sack full of spaghetti on the unloading process at San Pedro Macoris, the breaking of two arms and a leg on the stevedore who happened to be under it.

The port pilot was drunk it happened but the captain didn't realize it in time. We bounded up the city colored river, full speed ahead, barely missing an outward bound schooner. When parallel to our quay we were still leaping along, the captain sensed that something was wrong, yelled to the bosun to drop both anchors and frantically signalled the engine room to full speed astern. The anchors dragged quite helplessly in the soft silt of the river bottom and the propeller thrashed around in vain. We had our choice, it was evident, of ramming into a bleak, unelastic looking sea wall or sliding under a low bridge which was directly in front of us and consequently raking off all of the upper works, or slicing through the middle of Santo Domingo's shipping. In desperation the skipper chose the latter, swung the rudder to starboard and awaited calamities. They came, and in abundance.

The first thing we struck was the ill-fated Carmen, a scrubby little weather beaten scow loaded to the gills, however, with molasses. As we struck and pierced the tank molasses flew into the air in myriad brown jets, the bow and decks were quite covered with it. Then came two lighters, passably new, which we cleaved easily—then the bow grounded and we stopped with a lurch, barely in time to save the pier and a fair sized fishing smack that was warped to it. Soon the water in front was brown with natives; some excited, and some indignant, the latter were mostly composed of the owners of ruined shipping.

We backed out of the silt and anchored in mid stream while the captain berated the pilot and looked him in a closet for the time being. The port doctor came aboard and confirmed the captain's suspicions that the pilot was drunk but dared not make a sworn statement to that effect since the pilot is an ex-convict, a murderer, and he didn't desire to have a stiletto thrust in his back.

The city of Santo Domingo is quite fine, easily as beautiful as most Old World cities, and it has a certain Spanish mellowness that is incomparable. The two fine parks, Colombo and Independence, are nightly thronged with promenading civilians all attired in smart, less white linen clothes. The young Dominican ladies are strikingly beautiful—deep brown eyes and olive complexions, fine features and glistening, jet black hair. In the older sections of the city one finds mansions, jalousied windows quite prevalent, but most of the sections appear modern and not very prosperous. As everywhere Americans are "stuck." Dawson, who is going to the jungles to study herpetology, paid nine dollars for a pith helmet whose twin I bought in Georgetown for four.

Being here in port for three days the crew determined to make the best of their opportunities and succeeded in doing so admirably. Late the first night as Dawson and I were returning from the concert in Colombo park we danced to pass a saloon from whence we heard issue forth the unlovely voice of none other than Ole Olson, our cook, his voice had a peculiar ring that we divined was to be attributed to Mum's extra dry. Not wishing to be hailed in with the crew we scuttled around the corner, but a likelier late, or Nils Nelson, second engineer, burst out of the saloon's door and beckoned to us to come in. Knowing it would be undiplomatic not to heed a drunken man's invitation we did as we were bade. In the saloon were members of the crew, all dead drunk or fast getting in that state, mostly in the best of spirits. Very ceremoniously all of the crew introduced themselves to us and seated us. Then they proceeded to tell in blue-eyed, all but incoherent pidgin English how welcome we were on the boat, how nice it was for them to have company, and how exceedingly fortunate we were to go by freighter instead of passenger steamer. After they had babbed these three statements at us in 20 different versions and after forcing five or six beers into us, much against our feeble wills, we succeeded in breaking away, with splitting headaches.

About 4 o'clock in the morning we were still on deck. The captain had locked the doors and was sitting in his room with a veritable armory spread out on the table in front of him—he was waiting for Gomez, the port pilot who he had gotten into trouble, for Gomez had threatened to get 100 trusty henchmen and assassinate him ere the break of dawn. Soon the crew began to stagger back. First came a converted Mack Maria, a Ford run by the police, which unloaded six unconscious specimens on the quay. We corded them up in piles of straw while the other five were struggling up the ladder. Then Dawson and I managed to carry bodily, and in their proper order, the first, second and third engineers the second mate, the bosun, and a deck hand, up the Jacob's ladder and into their bunks.

Next morning all were sober, he decamped in scrubby molasses off the bow and decks. Ole Olson remained drunk for four days, during which time our meals were unbecomingly, and the wrath of all on board was called down upon him. But, poor soul, he deserved his little spree and, one did, for he has scrubby and children, only one of which is partly self supporting, to support up in the bleak steppes of northern Lapland.

After six more days straight sailing through turbulent Caribbean seas we passed St. Lucia and St. Vincent, and came into the port of Georgetown, Demerara, British Guiana, exactly three weeks after leaving New Orleans.

MENUS FOR THE FAMILY
(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast—Orange juice, soft-cooked eggs, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Lima bean soufflé, beef salad, graham bread, apple sauce, ginger bread, milk, tea.

Dinner—Veal cutlet, spinach soup, croutons, broiled halibut steak, creamed potatoes, carrots, apple-celery nut salad, blueberry pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

With the exception of the blueberry pie in the dinner menu there are no dishes suggested that cannot be served to a child four years of age. The salad might well be reduced to lettuce with French dressing in place of the combination of a celery heart may take the place of a salad.

Lima Bean Soufflé
One pint shelled lima beans, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs.

Wash beans and cook 20 minutes in boiling water, to cover. One-half teaspoon of salt should be added after the first 10 minutes of cooking. Drain from water if the liquid has not cooked away and rub through a sieve. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored. Scald milk and add bean puree. Season with salt, pepper and butter and add to egg yolks. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry on a platter with a wire whisk. Fold into first mixture and turn into a well-buttered baking dish. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve at once.

"A GARDEN ROMANCE"

A strong, young Zinnia and a pink Sweet Pea.
Blossomed near a Shower of Gold.
Paradise smiled as a lover does.
On both young blades, I'm told—
Zinnia turned a face with a Golden Glow.
And gasped with a Baby's Breath.
He knew his love for this clinging vine
For him, meant life or death.

And so he Aster at Four O'clock.
If his Bird of Paradise she would be;
Like a Magic Lily she bowed her head—
Then Tulips—and ecstasy.
So then this pair of Honey-suckles
Wave a cordial of Daffodils and
And called on Jack-in-the-Pulpit
To tell of their wedding day.

Other flowers in my garden
The Marigolds, Cosmos and Phlox,
Gladioli, Fuchsias and Roses,
Cannas and Late Four O'Clocks,
Cress and Hemp and Hibiscus,
Peonies, Petunias and Pinks,
Iris, Lilies and Larkspur,
And Canary Bird Flower (the jinx).

Also the Hen and Chickens,
The Herbs and Mushroom spawn,
The Moon Flower in the evening,
And the Morning Glory at dawn—
Talked of the matrimony vine that
Creeping around, like Love-in-a-Mist,
Till Poppy encountered young Zinnia,
And gave him a taste of his fist.

He called him a Weed and an Onion.
A Wall Flower, Garlic and Gourd,
Beggar Weed, Pumpkin and Sorrel.
And others in Wild Flower herd.
The Elephant Ears began wiggling.
With the terrible things they had heard—
So they sent Zinnia Bachelor's Button
Along with a kind, loving word.

Zinnia didn't find any Heartsease
And so like the Wandering Jew
He strayed to the edge of the garden
Where Job's Tears and Crown of Thorns grew.
Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Taylor of Virden are visiting friends here.

DEMPEY BACKS FITZ IN FIGHT AMBITIONS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 12. (Associated Press)—Jack Dempsey threw his weight behind Floyd Fitzsimmons' efforts to obtain the right to stage a Dempsey-Wills fight for the heavyweight championship with two declarations made here today. The first was: "Fitzsimmons has made me a better offer than any likely to come from any other promoter and he has my signature to a contract."

His second statement was: "I will not fight in New York state."
A third remark concerning statements by Jack Keenan, the still had managerial power over Dempsey's engagements and that he intended to sign for a Dempsey-Wills fight also was brief and unqualified. It was: "I'll do my own signing. Let Keenan sign if he wants to, but what good will it do him?"

PITTSBURGH DEFEATS GIANTS BY TWO RUNS

Southpaw Pitcher is Hit Hard—Make It Two Out of Three in Series.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12. (AP)—Pittsburgh made it two out of three in the series with New York by winning today, 3 to 2, and now lead the champions in the National League flag race by five and one-half games.

Yde, left-handed Pirate pitcher, was hit hard, the Giants collected 12 safeties but poor base running in the fourth inning nullified three successive hits.

Virgil Barnes and Fred Fitzsimmons divided the pitching burdens of the Giants.

On next Sunday afternoon the Arenzville team will be the foes of the Jacksonville Indians at South Side Park and as the coming visitors have won eighteen of the twenty games played this year, it is sure to be a real contest. Both teams are going at top speed now and Lefty Burrus of Arenzville has made an exceptionally good record on the slab this season, in addition to being no mean performer with the willow. Smith will use either Howard Fryman, or Lefty Freney, a new southpaw just signed. The local club has lost the services of Paul Lewis, the flash at the third station on account of his work calling him away from this part of the state, and in his place, Smith has signed Nichol, former third baseman of Wabash college.

The game Sunday will be called at 3 o'clock and as the crowds for the past few games have been large with local interest apparently on the increase, another full grandstand is looked for.

Only about ten more games will be played by the Indians this season, the following engagements having been already made: August 23, Clinton, Indiana. August 30, Pekin, Ill. September 6-7, Beardstown, Merchants.

BATTING SENEGALESE GETS WALKING PAPERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Battling Siki, the Senegalese who rose to pugilistic heights by defeating Georges Carpentier, and who told immigration authorities when he came here in April, 1924, that he planned to stay only a month and leave the country forthwith or face arrest and deportation proceedings.

The labor department in informing the fighter that he was not wanted here any longer, took cognizance of a long sequence of newspaper accounts of various escapades. Altho the fighter's name has appeared on the police blotters of several cities, no defense warranting deportation has been reported to the labor department.

Immigration authorities said that, on his arrival they were informed by Siki, whose real name is Louis Fall, that he wished to remain a month to engage in several bouts. He was given permission to remain six months and that time limit expired last November.

What do you ask for when you ask for coal?

I KNOW a man who is an unusually successful business man. He finds the right product and sticks to it—he orders by brand, just as the housewife does with staple foods.

He applies his business methods to buying coal. When he wants coal he doesn't ask for tons, he specifies Genuine Zeigler. He knows that it gives a hot fire, is clean, free from soot, does not clinker, and leaves a light easily handled ash—a bushel of Genuine Zeigler ash weighs much less than ash from ordinary coals.

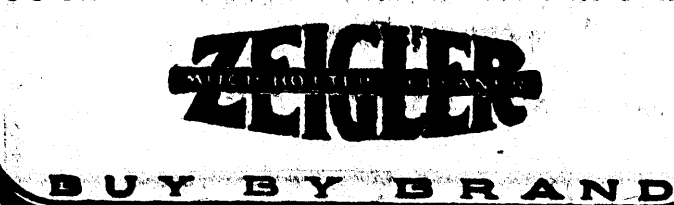

He knows that when he orders Genuine Zeigler he will get the same coal he got with his first order, for the careful hand picking of Genuine Zeigler insures uniform quality.

This man gets fuel satisfaction with economy. Do you?

Specify Genuine Zeigler. It pays to buy by brand.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Aug. 12. (By Associated Press)—Erratic fluctuations characterized today's irregular stock market, two of the most contrasting features being the weakness of the oil shares and the strength of the rail, particularly some of the Southern and Southwestern carriers.

One of the violent price movements in recent months took place in General Railway Signal which opened five points higher at 29 and quickly mounted to a new record price for all time at 31.91, then collapsed to 27 and finally bounded upward to 30. The stock opened at 144 when it was listed on the "Big Board" two months ago. General Electric also made stock exchange history by touching a record peak at 321.

Mixed movements took place in other so-called "richmen's stocks." Mack Trucks showed a net loss of 32 1/2 points, ending at 100, the rails, centered in Chesapeake & Ohio which attained the best price in its history at 106, and Washash common and preferred A which touched new high levels at 40 1/2 and 72 1/2, respectively.

Frisco common, Western Pacific and Bangor and Aroostook also broke thru their previous high levels.

Marked heaviness was shown by American Sugar refining, General Motors, Interborough Rapid Transit, Midland Steel products, preferred, Woolworth and Worthington Pump, all off 2 to 3 points.

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 percent and then dropped to four. Time money rates showed a slight decline, 60 to 90 day funds being quoted at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4 and the longer maturities at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4.

Fluctuations in the foreign exchanges were extremely narrow and irregular. Demand sterling held fairly steady around 4.85 but French francs and Italian lira were slightly easier at 4.67 and 3.60 cents respectively.

ATTEMPTS MADE TO FORCE WHEAT DOWN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (By Associated Press)—Stormy weather in the Canadian northwest threatening to bring about a wet harvest had much to do today with defeating attempts to force wheat prices down. After a temporary setback in values, previous sellers of wheat turned suddenly to the buying side, and the market virtually bare of offerings went up with a rush. Wheat closed strong 2 1/2c 4 1/2c net higher at the top figures of the day, September $1.64 1/2 to $1.64 1/2 and December $1.61 1/2 to $1.62, with corn 1/2c to 1 1/2c down, oats 1/2c to 1c off, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 10c.

The late advance in wheat price amounted to 5 1/2c a bushel from the day's bottom figures for the September delivery. Houses with eastern connections were among the principal late buyers and were also the heaviest sellers earlier making the market undergo a major but brief decline about midday whereas the prior trend had been upward. Initial gains here were due more or less to unfavorable weather in Great Britain and to a reduction of crop estimates there. Rain reports from the Canadian northwest received but little notice until late in the day.

Contributing to the general strength of the wheat market was a decided falling off in the movement of domestic winter wheat to primary centers.

With country holders reported firm in their views, arrivals today in Chicago totaled only 64 cars and primary receipts aggregated less than a third of the total a year ago. In this connection, it was pointed out that ordinary No. 2 hard winter wheat at Kansas City was bringing 5c to 6c a bushel premium over the September price and that mills which have depended on Kansas as a source of supplies must to a large extent look elsewhere owing to unusual curtailment of the 1925 Kansas crop.

Good rains together with large country offerings eased down the corn market. Liberal receipts weakened oats.

Scattered buying upheld the provision market.

GAMMA NU SOCIETY TO JOIN NATIONAL

Will Become Chapter of Kappa Phi Sigma—Has Remarkable Record.

Gamma Nu society of Illinois college is to become the Gamma Nu chapter of Kappa Phi Sigma, a national literary society term, according to an announcement made yesterday by Fred Hoskins, a past president of the society.

Gamma Nu has won a well deserved place of honor among the colleges of Illinois during the past four years since its reorganization. The society has had a large proportion of the officers in the student association and on athletic teams of the college. The society was founded at the end of the last century, but after a few years was discontinued. In 1921 the college had grown and the old societies, Phi Alpha and Sigma Phi, were incapable of giving membership to all of the desirable men. Hence the reorganization of Gamma Nu.

Kappa Phi Sigma is one of the most respected of national men's literary societies, having chapters in such important spots as the University of Illinois, the University of Michigan, Washington University, Monmouth College, Purdue University and Coe College. During the next school term Illinois college and Harvard university will be added to the chapter roll.

Last spring President Hammelkamp received a letter from Kappa Phi Sigma stating that that body wished to have a chapter at Old Illinois, and suggesting that the proposition be put up to the object men's literary society. Dr. Hammelkamp, feeling that the older societies were too long established to consider a change in name referred the matter to Gamma Nu which broached the subject to its alumni at the annual love feast of the society held last June at the Christian church.

DOKAY DRILL TEAM MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Word was received in Jacksonville from Jewell Scott who is attending the national convention of the D. O. K. K. at Providence, R. I., that the Jacksonville drill team scored 55 units in the parade, which is considered an unusually good score, but their final standing cannot be announced until tonight. Staff competitors expected from the teams from Beaumont and Ft. Worth, Texas, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Oklahoma City, Winnipeg, Racine and Milwaukee. The number of teams competing equals that at the Chattanooga convention at which Jacksonville placed third. An unusual large crowd witnessed the parade which was replete with special features.

Raymond Eyre with one auto load of Jacksonville members expects to start the return trip today and should arrive home by next Tuesday. Others of the Jacksonville contingent may delay their return for a few days.

LOCAL PEOPLE ENJOY OLD SALEM OUTING

A number of local people were in attendance at the annual outing and picnic given by the Spink and Strawn Agencies which was held at the Old Salem State Park at Petersburg on Tuesday. The day was pleasantly spent. A bountiful picnic dinner was served at noon and was followed by a short business session. The remainder of the day was spent socially.

Jacksonville people in attendance included: Mr. Ed Spink, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Spink and family, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Danksin, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Eyre and family, Olive Chapman and Helen Hart.

ALL PLANS COMPLETE FOR MEDICAL EVENT

Noted Physicians to Make Addresses Here Today—Three Markers to be Unveiled with Proper Ceremonies.

All plans are complete for the celebration of the coming of the first members of the medical profession to Morgan county and Jacksonville. The affair will be held today and will occupy the entire afternoon and evening. It will open on the Illinois college campus with a luncheon at noon, to which the public is cordially invited. Those who come should bring their baskets and prepare to spend a pleasant afternoon. In case of inclement weather, the gymnasium is available for the luncheon and the exercises to follow.

At two o'clock will occur the dedication and unveiling of the marker on the site of the first medical school in Illinois, which was opened in old Beecher Hall. This ceremony will be followed by an address by Dr. W. A. Pusey of Chicago who will discuss the early medical education in Illinois. Dr. Pusey is well qualified to handle this subject, as he has spent several years in study of the history of medical education and is the president of the American Medical Association and had unusual opportunities for such study.

The markers that are to be unveiled today have already been put in place and are ready for the ceremonies. After the exercises on the campus, the crowd will journey to a point six miles west of the city on the hard road and mark the site of the home of Dr. Cadwell, first physician in Morgan county. While the party is halted at this point for the exercises, state motorcycle police will be on hand to care for the traffic.

Upon the return to the city at five o'clock, the crowd will assemble in front of Grace M. E. church to mark the site of the home of the first doctor in Jacksonville, and Dr. Edward Rowe will read a biographical sketch. This will conclude the exercises for the afternoon.

At 6:15 in the evening the members of the Medical association and numerous others interested in the celebration will assemble at the country club for a dinner. This will be followed by an address by Dr. George Crile of Cleveland, who will have as his subject "The History of the Practice of Medicine in the Mississippi Valley." This will close the day's program. The celebration is being held under the auspices of the Morgan County Medical Society and the Jacksonville Centennial Commission.

FAIR TICKET FORCE TO MEET AT DINNER

Those who will push the advance sale of season tickets for the Morgan county fair, members of the association advisory board, and others will be guests next Monday evening at a pre-campaign dinner at the Deacock Inn given by the Jacksonville Centennial Commission. The campaign will provide and speeches will be made by a number of local men. The fair captains are busy picking up collectors and are organizing their districts to sell as many tickets as possible. The time of the dinner will be 6:15 o'clock and invitations will be sent to all the fair captains, members of the fair campaign teams, and executive committees.

TEN CERTIFICATES TO BE ISSUED HERE SOON

One first class and nine second class teachers' certificates are to be issued to Morgan county men and women soon as the result of the teachers' examination held here July 16 and 17. Fifty-five wrote the examination. The county authorities are much gratified about the results as the average number to pass was higher than in other counties.

Miss Ada Barton of Murrayville was the successful applicant for a first grade certificate. Others passing the examination in this county were: Amelia Bourn and Alben Louagan, Jacksonville; Mildred S. Nunes and Mabel Brewer, Franklin; Corliss L. Kinnett, Meredosia; Ethel L. Harrison, Waverly; Alice F. Ludwig, Alexander; Helen A. Ellington, Manchester; and Edith Miller, Maxwell, Illinois.

CANTON CENTENNIAL WILL BE BIG THING

T. M. Tomlinson Returns from Advising Parade Officials—Parade Several Miles Long is Planned.

The Canton centennial celebration to be held the last of this month will rival our own great one, according to T. M. Tomlinson who returned from Canton yesterday afternoon. Mr. Tomlinson was called to the Fulton county city to advise the parade committee of the Canton chamber of commerce regarding the best ways to handle a big parade.

Some of the business houses and institutions had been hanging back about entering floats in the parade, but after Mr. Tomlinson finished speaking at a chamber of commerce meeting last night on the fine results obtained here, many more swung into line and a first class parade began to take shape.

The Canton parade is to consist of seven sections and will be between three and four miles long. Henry Deegman is chairman of the parade committee, and Col. B. M. Chipperfield is general chairman of the centennial celebration. August 28 is to be parade day, and on the same day a pageant will be presented, the subject being Canton's history.

The celebration is to last a week during which the public square will be roped off. Three hundred Shriners are to take part in the parade, led by the Shriner's band of Peoria.

One of the most interesting features of Canton's celebration will be a band of 50 Indians from a Minnesota reservation, who will be encamped in the town.

The historical pageant will be similar to our own but will not form the distinctive feature that ours will. It will open with Indian scenes, and will then show the early French explorers. The founding of Canton by Isaac Swan and development will be shown, the whole thing being in pantomime, acted to an accompaniment by the P. and O. band.

Canton is hoping to have a large delegation from this city in return for the band and delegation that they sent to honor us during the week of our exhibition.

SWIFT & CO. EMPLOYEE INJURED BY FALL

Arthur Vested, employee of Swift & Company, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon while loading meat in a truck at the plant. In attempting to step on the endgate of the truck he in some way missed his footing and fell, striking his head upon the concrete floor below, rendering him unconscious. Dr. A. M. King attended the injured man and he was later removed to his home on South East streets, where he remained in a semi-conscious condition at a late hour.

HOWITZER MEMBERS DEPART FOR CAMP

Sergeant Orval Lumley and Privates John DeFrates and John Fanning of the local Howitzer company left Wednesday morning as an advance detail to Camp Grant to prepare camp for the full company of fifty-five or sixty men who are to leave Jacksonville Friday for their annual tour of camp duty and training which this year will cover a period of seventeen days.

Captain James still has vacancies for ten desirable men, if any care to take advantage of this opportunity to obtain military training under the best of regular and National Guard instructors.

FIREMEN CALLED TO EARLY MORNING BLAZE YESTERDAY

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning firemen were called to the home of Mildred Boles, 767 South Church street, where a fire of peculiar origin was in progress. Part of the electric wiring became short circuited and a hot wire burned a hole in the gas pipe and set fire to the contents. The firemen extinguished the blaze with little damage.

MOVED TO PITTSFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. George Green spent yesterday in moving their effects to their new home in Pittsfield. Mr. Green, an employee of the Caldwell engineering company of this city, will be busy with extensive engineering work in the Pike county town for the next eight or nine months. Mrs. Green and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Green, plan to open a beauty parlor in their new home.

The Greens have made their home at 502 South Kosciusko street for some time past.

RECEIVES WORD OF DEATH OF NEPHEW

J. G. Fitzhugh of 1261 South East street has received word of the death of his nephew, John Frank Bond, which occurred Friday, August 7, at Mercy hospital in Des Moines, Iowa. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church in Des Moines Sunday afternoon and burial was made in a cemetery there.
